Guitar Lesson Terms and Conditions

I love teaching guitar and hate handing out rules and regulations. However, teaching guitar is my living as such I need a few simple safeguards. All lessons given by me (John) are subject to the following terms and conditions.

1. Fees – lesson fees are payable at the end of each lesson by cash or cheque and are subject to annual review (though rarely go up!)
2. Missed Lessons - Any lesson missed without any prior notice will need to be paid for in full. Any scheduled lesson cancelled by John will obviously not be subject to any charge!
3. Cancellations - Any student who wishes to cancel a lesson will need to give 36 hours clear notice in which case no fee will be due. Anything less than 36 hours notice and you will need to pay the full lesson cost. I will waive this in exceptional circumstances (family emergencies, accident etc) but it will be at my discretion.
4. Postponement – To count as a postponement, the re-scheduled lesson must be given within the same week, otherwise it will be treated as a cancellation. I will always do everything I can to re-schedule lessons within the same week but please remember I have a lot of students to see!
5. Late arrival – I cannot guarantee a full lesson if you arrive late. If I am running late, I will always give you a full lesson and will try to let you know before you arrive that I am running late.
6. Bad Weather! – Over the last few years we have had regular snowfalls at various times of the year. Whilst this is the fault of no-one it does impact my work significantly. I am now asking any student who cannot make a lesson due to adverse weather conditions to pay just half the lesson fee. I do appreciate that bad weather is nobody's fault but in reality this will only mean you pay another tenner or so once a year in the event of bad weather.
